THE GOD OF THE DECADE

By Bro. Need

We have done several articles in the past about the essence of true faith being looking ahead with sure confidence in the promises of God that were yet hundreds of years in the future when there was no visible evidence for that faith. Hebrews 11 reaches back into history to show how godly men of old endured great difficulties because they believed the seemingly impossible promises of God would be fulfilled. Let us consider “faith” that is being promoted in this decade.

The fool has said in his heart, there is no Predestinating God who controls the future. But men must have a god to whom they look to direct the future. The loss of the Christian faith, particularly in the church, has forced men to look for a “human god” who can assure them of a prosperous and glorious future.

We watched Donald Trump’s speech in Pennsylvania on May 6. Those who watched the rally speech surely could not help but see that it was a campaign speech for a 2024 presidential run. (We saw a large billboard that said “Vote Donald Trump for president 2024.” It was probably put up by a group of supporters.) As with all campaign speeches, he emphasized what he had done and what he would do in the future if he returned to the office. He built great hope in the MAGA crowd that he could, through his wisdom and courage, bring peace and prosperity to the USA. His “campaign” speech is being repeated multiple times over the US, and is spreading much false hope in what a man can do apart from 2 Chronicles 7:14. Trump’s message gives great hope—though it is a hope that will bring God’s judgment—throughout the nation for those Christians and non-Christians who have no Godly hope, e.g., Matt 28 & 1 Corinthians 15:24, 25.

The national popularity of the “MAGA” movement proves that there is a real grassroots movement to make Donald Trump a god in the hope that he can reclaim the greatness of America without the required spirit of repentance and returning to the Covenant God upon which this nation was founded.

Alexis De Tocqueville is reported to have said:

“I sought for the greatness and genius of America in her commodious harbors and her ample rivers—and it was not there ... in her fertile fields and boundless forests—and it was not there ... in her rich mines and her vast world commerce—and it was not there ... in her democratic Congress and her matchless Constitution—and it was not there. Not until I went into the churches of America and heard her pulpits flame with righteousness did I understand the secret of her genius and power.

America is great because she is good, and if America ever ceases to be good, America will cease to be great.

Attributed to ALEXIS DE TOCQUEVILLE. Whether these words are his or not, they are according to The Truth, which defines good. <https://www.bartleby.com/73/829.html>

Sadly, America has ceased to be good, and is now controlled by the powers of darkness. Those powers will permit and prosper any message of hope that does not include 2 Chronicles 7:14.

Psalms 146:3 Put not your trust in princes, nor in the son of man, in whom there is no help.

Donald Trump appears to be a threat to those who are conspiring against the Son, as they hope to succeed where Nimrod failed with his Tower of Babel. We can be assured that the conspirators will do everything within their power to stop Trump if he is what he claims to be. I look for another pandemic to come along about October. Under our system of government, we must work to see that we have honest elections.

I am certainly not encouraging one to ignore Donald Trump. No doubt he is better than any option we presently have. Sadly, Christians don't see him as the real threat to the American Republic as he works to present himself as the Great Hope of the Republic.

Psalms 60:11 Give us help from trouble: for vain is the help of man.

Proverbs 26:12 Seest thou a man wise in his own conceit? there is more hope of a fool than of him. Psalms 42:11 Why art thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted within me? hope thou in God: for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God. Psalms 60:11 Give us help from trouble: for vain is the help of man.

Romans 8:24 For we are saved by hope: but hope that is seen is not hope: for what a man seeth, why doth he yet hope for?

As a nation, we can only be saved by returning to the "Faith of our Fathers" who signed the Mayflower compact 402 years ago, 1620. Note: America was not founded with any kind of Jewish heritage. There was no intention, as some may maintain, in our founding to support nor defend Judaism, i.e., the Jewish religion. The Jewish propaganda machine invented and promoted a supposed "Judeo Christian Heritage" in order to get gullible Christians who do not know the Truth to support and defend their antichrist religion and nation. America was clearly founded on the distinctly Christian foundation built on the Lord Jesus Christ alone. Judaism is a religion which absolutely denies the Lordship of Jesus Christ as professed in the founding of this nation. (The Trump family has very close with Judaism. See "Essays on Judaism" at biblicalexaminer.org)

"Man will ultimately be governed by God or by tyrants." -- Benjamin Franklin

<https://reformedbooksonline.com/wp-content/uploads/2014/06/myers-rebellion-to-tyrants-is-obedience-to-god-and-the-declaration-of-independence.pdf>

The founders of this nation believed God was using them to establish a new "Israel" to glorify Him.

John Winthrop Dreams of a City on a Hill, 1630

John Winthrop delivered the following sermon before he and his fellow settlers reached New England. The sermon is famous largely for its use of the phrase "a city on a hill," used to describe the expectation that the Massachusetts Bay colony would shine like an example to the world. But Winthrop's sermon also reveals how he expected Massachusetts to differ from the rest of the world.

<https://www.americanyawp.com/reader/colliding-cultures/john-winthrop-dreams-of-a-city-on-a-hill-1630/>

One of the first settlements in what would become the United States was by the Puritans in New England. "Independently, many Puritans took up and applied the older idea that England enjoyed a covenant with God—a 'covenant of grace,' they called it—even if they hesitated at first about whether the Promised Land was to be found in the new England or the old" (Todd Gitlin and Leil Leibovitz, The Chosen People, 2010, p. 65).

Puritan minister John Cotton "preached the 'land of promise' to . . . Puritan voyagers aboard the Arabella as they were about to set sail from Southampton in 1630, drawing his text from II Samuel 7:10: 'Moreover I will appoint a place for my people Israel, and will plant them, that they may dwell in a place of their own, and move no more'" (pp. 65-66).

As time went on, some of the Founding Fathers of America used biblical metaphors and word pictures to describe the new land. On July 4, 1776, the Continental Congress instructed Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson and John Adams to design a seal for the United States. What did they propose?

"A few weeks later, Franklin proposed this image (in his own words): ‘Moses standing on the Shore, and extending his Hand over the Sea, thereby causing the same to overwhelm Pharaoh who is sitting in an open Chariot, a Crown on his Head and a Sword in his Hand. Rays from a Pillar of Fire in the Clouds reaching to Moses, to express that he acts by Command of the Deity. Motto, Rebellion to Tyrants is Obedience to God.’

“Jefferson . . . [suggested] ‘a representation of the children of Israel in the wilderness, led by a cloud by day and a pillar of fire by night’” (pp. 67-68).

<https://www.ucg.org/the-good-news/the-colonial-view-of-america-as-a-new-israel>

Jefferson’s edit of Franklin’s design for the Great Seal of these United States was recommended by the first committee for the reverse side of the Great Seal:

“Pharaoh sitting in an open Chariot, a Crown on his head and a Sword in his hand, passing through the divided Waters of the Red Sea in Pursuit of the Israelites: Rays from a Pillar of Fire in the Cloud, expressive of the divine Presence and Command, beaming on Moses who stands on the shore and extending his hand over the Sea causes it to overwhelm Pharaoh. Motto: Rebellion to Tyrants is Obedience to God.”

No sketch was made of their design. The above drawing was made by Benson J. Lossing for Harper’s New Monthly Magazine in July 1856. (Lossing did not include a design element specified: “Rays from a Pillar of Fire in the Clouds reaching to Moses.”)

Note: Jefferson’s suggestion for the Great Seal was the children of Israel in the wilderness, led by a cloud by day and a pillar of fire by night. America was founded as a Christian Nation, the New Israel of God.

[Quotation on the Jefferson Memorial] Jefferson liked the motto “Rebellion to Tyrants is Obedience to God” so much that he used it on his personal seal. Also, it seems to have inspired the upper motto Charles Thomson suggested for the final design of the reverse side of the Great Seal: Annuit Coeptis (God has favored our undertakings).

<https://www.greatseal.com/committees/firstcomm/reverse.html>

We see above that both Franklin and Jefferson as well as the Continental Congress considered this nation as being established by God as a new land of promise, a Christian example to the world from where God’s people could influence a continent as well as the world for Christ. We have referred to the Mayflower Compact several times; it clearly lays out the godly goal for this nation.

With the enthusiasm we see at Trump rallies, I believe he could easily set himself up as an “Oliver Cromwell” of our day. Would he enforce the 10 Commandments as Cromwell did? I doubt it because people love their sin, and would not accept it if enforced in the judicial system. Without a change of heart, there can be no social change toward God and Godliness.

With no god, men will seek another god: the State, a man ... In his May 22 speech to the IBEW, Biden attempted to slam Trump, calling him “the great MAGA king.” Trump immediately claimed the title: “Trump himself posted a meme of his return on his Truth Social account, with a picture from the movie poster of the 2003 film “The Return of the King,” with the title tweaked to say “The Return of the Great MAGA King.”

There can be no doubt that Donald Trump is the new god of the age as great multitudes of people drive hundreds of miles to attend one of his rallies, and thus look to him to rescue them from the evils of this age that we have brought upon ourselves.

Hosea 13:9 O Israel, thou hast destroyed thyself; but in me is thine help. “You have gone away from me, but I will bring you back again. You have destroyed yourself by your sin, but I will restore you to my favour by my grace. You may look within yourself for reasons to repent, but you must not look to yourself for the means of restoration; you must look to me, your Saviour and your God.” So this verse teaches us “Oh Israel, you have destroyed yourself, but in me is your help.” (CHS. Spurgeon is obviously speaking of the church as the new Israel of God as identifies in Galatians.)

From the way that Trump parades himself around on the platform after his speeches, he appears to consider himself a self-appointed redeemer of the nation. Regardless, I must admit that generally, we were better off under his presidency. We understand that all promotion comes from God, so we must accept the fact that those who are in authority are placed there by God.

Psalms 75:6 For promotion cometh neither from the east, nor from the west, nor from the south.

Certainly, we do not know what the next six years will hold for us, but I pray that God will hold off His judgment long enough for a new generation that loves God to be raised up.

Two exciting things have taken place over the past five years.

First: the Scamdemic forced parents to face up to what is being taught in the government education system, and many abandoned that Satanic system, particularly Blacks, Asians, and Hispanics. The Scamdemic forced an explosive home school movement which surprised the fools in authority. Because fools believe there is no God, they considered the Christian school movement as well as the home school movement simply a passing fad that would not last—the movements caught them totally unprepared. We can be assured that there are now plans in the works to try to bring the homeschoolers under State control, but they will certainly face a problem because over 30% of children are now being homeschooled, and the movement is growing. Result? The government schools are facing tremendous funding shortages. It is sad that parents don't realize the absolute destructive forces of the majority of colleges, and they still send their children there to have their Christian thinking replaced with antigod, humanist thinking. We should pray for God's judgment against the "public school" system that it will collapse of its own weight. However, we should not assume that all the homeschoolers are being trained up in the fear and the admonition of the Lord. On the other hand, we can assume that those parents are fed up with the government indoctrination, and they fear what the government is trying to do to this nation.

Second: The Scamdemic revealed the hearts of Christians and pastors. Many even self-identified Orthodox churches closed their doors fearing the State that established itself as god, and demanded obedience from the churches; many bowed to the antibiblical mandates. The result has been that many Christians left those churches. Of course, I circulate in Reformed Christian circles, so I really don't know much of what's going on otherwise. I do know that as many churches shut down, new, soundly "Reformed" churches were and are being established. These churches are attracting Reformed Christians from all denominations, even Royalists, who are seeking sound doctrine and pastors who are not fearful of what man may do to them. The Lord alone must create the desire for sound doctrine in the hearts of people, and he seems to be doing that today.

"Man will ultimately be governed by God or by tyrants," and until "we" decide we want to be governed by God, God will raise up tyrants to rule.

Donald Trump is obviously a Populist: "a person, especially a politician, who strives to appeal to ordinary people who feel that their concerns are disregarded by established elite groups." Trump knows the words that appeal to the average person; he has the personality that attracts people to himself, and those attracted to him may ignore the "bad" things they do not want to believe about him. The MAGA crowd has already anointed him as the god of the decade. Will he become a tyrant?

Hope in what man can do inherits God's judgment against individuals and against nations. God in his Patience gives plenty of time to repent and return to him, but when that time is up, judgment will surely come. (Genesis 15:16) What will that judgment look like?

STUPID IS AS STUPID DOES

By Steve Rossiter, 4/18/22

American philosopher Forrest Gump, in the movie by the same name. Until recently, I viewed these words as a cute slogan with a limited application in the real world. Not anymore! A few days ago, I received a short video that discussed German theologian Dietrich Bonhoeffer's (1908 – 1945) Theory of Stupid. As a student of history, I keep finding that there isn't much need for new intellectual input about human behavior. Everything about human nature has been known since biblical times by wiser men than anyone today.

In a previous article I discussed the phenomena of mass psychosis and how this has impacted American culture and values in our times. Coupled with the information that Bonhoeffer presented, we have a complete picture of our problems with human nature in 2022 America, Canada, and much of the world.

Bonhoeffer writes: "Upon closer observation, it becomes apparent that every strong upsurge of power in the public sphere, be it of a political or a religious nature, infects a large part of humankind with stupidity. The power of the one needs the stupidity of the other. The process at work here is not that particular human capacities, for instance, the intellect, suddenly atrophy or fail. Instead, it seems that under the overwhelming impact of rising power, humans are deprived of their inner independence and, more or less consciously, give up establishing an autonomous position toward the emerging circumstances. The fact that the stupid person is often stubborn must not blind us to the fact that he is not independent.

In conversation with him, one virtually feels that one is dealing not at all with him as a person, but with slogans, catchwords, and the like that have taken possession of him.

He is under a spell, blinded, misused, and abused in his very being. Having thus become a mindless tool, the stupid person will also be capable of any evil and at the same time incapable of seeing that it is evil.

This is where the danger of diabolical misuse lurks, for it is this that can once and for all destroy human beings.”

He continues: “It seems obvious that stupidity is less a psychological than a sociological problem. It is a particular form of the impact of historical circumstances on human beings, a psychological concomitant of certain external conditions.”

Against stupidity we have no defense

Bonhoeffer goes on: “Against stupidity we have no defense. Neither protests nor force can touch it. Reasoning is of no use. Facts that contradict personal prejudices can simply be disbelieved — indeed, the fool can counter by criticizing them, and if they are undeniable, they can just be pushed aside as trivial exceptions. So the fool, as distinct from the scoundrel, is completely self-satisfied. In fact, they can easily become dangerous, as it does not take much to make them aggressive. For that reason, greater caution is called for than with a malicious one. Never again will we try to persuade the stupid person with reasons, for it is senseless and dangerous.”

He further writes: “The word of the Bible that the ‘fear of God is the beginning of wisdom’ declares that the internal liberation of human beings to live the responsible life before God is the only genuine way to overcome stupidity. But these thoughts about stupidity also offer consolation in that they utterly forbid us to consider the majority of people to be stupid in every circumstance. It really will depend on whether those in power expect more from peoples’ stupidity than from their inner independence and wisdom.”

He finally concludes: “We must abandon all attempts to convince the stupid person.”

Please understand, we may all have a bit of “stupid” in each of us about something. Be that as it may, Bonhoeffer has isolated a failing strategy patriotic Americans have tried to use for decades, trying to reason with the Marxist Democrats. We now know that they simply will never listen to reason. It also allows me to understand my experience trying to have a discussion with these people and all I get is being labeled by the latest term in the Marxist Democrat arsenal of hate speech, followed by the current platitudes of the month.

“If you can’t convince them, confuse them.” ~ Harry S.

COUNTY BEFORE COUNTRY

By Bro. Need. (<https://www.eventbrite.com/e/county-before-country-22-tickets-317725755287>)

Our church, East River in Batavia OH, is holding the County Before Country conference again this fall. The following letter is from a reader in the Philippines, and it fits right in with the purpose of the CBC conference. Matt tells us how the Muslims are working to take over a nation without a sword. Biblical principles of proper training, planning, discipline and work will work for whoever will put them in practice.

Hello Bro Need. It’s good to hear from you.

I’m doing great here in the Philippines. Life is finally back to some resemblance of normal. As long as someone is vaccinated then they are able to go into the grocery store or travel. However, schools are not yet face to face. I’m guessing they are focused on the upcoming Election here which will be May 9th. Bible studies are continuing though I don’t see the spontaneous expansion of the Kingdom these days in my city. I am considering moving to a different city (within the Philippines) to where God might need me more. There are some really exciting things going on but nothing that I know of in the city I’m living.

The muslim influence is strong although they have retreated back to their usual territory after Christians created a ‘prayer wall’ stretching 100km. They prayed the muslims wouldn’t cross the prayer wall. Although nothing physically stopped them, many of the muslims DID move back within a year or so! The muslims are very, very organized. It’s impressive actually. They bring in business leaders from other countries and train their people up to create and scale businesses. Muslims here are generally “rich” because they are usually business owners. They also have a strategic plan to apply to every open government job. They know that over a generation, muslims can control the entire government. Even if they don't serve in elected positions, they will still effectively control the government via staff positions.

I have one friendship that has developed with a muslim man, MJ. We've "debated" for a few years as he's genuinely interested in Christianity. He can't move past one big idea: The idea that Jesus forgives our present and future sins. He says this creates an environment with no self control, where we can do anything we want, with confidence we will be forgiven. He doesn't understand that Jesus can change hearts and it's the goodness of God that leads man to repentance. He correctly sees flaws in evangelical Christianity where people are Christians in name only. I brought him to a bible study once and he has massive backlash from his family.

On another note, it sounds like China has locked down again. We get different news here considering the proximity. However, the news has yet to share WHY they are locked down. There is footage of people in hazmat suits/PPE but we don't know if it's covid or another disease. I'm guessing we will see our next years as one crisis to another. It's also interesting about the recent election in Hungary. The leader won nearly 70% of the votes. He ran blatantly saying he is against leftists, against the global elite, against George Soros, against the EU trying to control them, against the American power complex, etc. It's a great platform but some think he will have near unilateral power now. I don't know what he truly believes or how he will act in reality but it's interesting that the people definitely voted for conservative or libertarian ideals. ...

In Christ, Matt

"The muslims are very, very organized. It's impressive actually."

1.They are organized. Sadly, it seems that most Christian leaders are more interested in protecting and expanding their small fiefdom than in expanding the Kingdom of God over the earth.

2. They bring in knowledgeable men to train their people in creating businesses.

3. Their wealth is a result of discipline as they apply what they have been taught.

4. Their plan to take over the country is to apply for every open government job.

5. They understand that if even if they cannot get elected, they will control the government via staff positions.

This is an area that has been greatly overlooked by the church. We are now under the control of unelected employees of the DOJ, State Department, IRS, and the employees of numerous other government agencies. We have seen over the past several decades that it does not matter who is president, or who are the elected officials in various state and local offices, the employees of the various agencies basically run the government.

The Muslims are putting into practice the biblical method of claiming nations for the Kingdom. We have the Spirit of Christ which makes Christians much more able and responsible for conquering nations for Christ.

THERE IS NO GOD

By Bro Need

The fool hath said in his heart, There is no God. They are corrupt, they have done abominable works, there is none that doeth good. (Ps 14:1, Ps 53:1) For God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil. (Gen 3:5)

Let us consider a few of the many broad implications of the above passages. (Ps 119:96 I have seen an end of all perfection: but thy commandment is exceeding broad.)

Psalms 14:1

First implication of the humanist faith—*There is no God – was founded in the Garden, i.e., "You do not need the Word of God. You can be your own god." From the time it was founded, that Humanistic Faith has been the dominant faith of the world. If there is no God as humanism claims, then there is no higher law than man-made law. There is no accountability to any authority higher than man's authority.

In the Garden, the devil convinced man he could trust in himself; that is, he could successfully reason his way through life without God's Word. From the very beginning, men have been controlled by Satan's promise that man can be his own god. When man departed from God, he departed from reality confident that he could create his own reality. Satan convinced him that he could create his own destiny. The result is that if it is rational to the natural man, then it is real. It is open witchcraft when one, Christian or not, thinks he can ignore God's law with impunity, whether that law is in the home, church, civil government, the workplace or in society in general.

We cannot imagine the amount of "taxpayer" and private funds that are being invested, nor the list of well-known religious men, wealthy men and corporations seeking to overthrow God, void His laws and control the world according to their own depraved imagination for their own glory. Satan has gathered his anti-Christ army from around the world to challenge God and fight against God's law, and he has enlisted plenty of "religious" chaplains for his army.

Second implication, *The fool hath said in his heart.

1828 Webster: *The fool:

1. One who is destitute of reason, or the common powers of understanding; an idiot.
2. ... one who does not exercise his reason; one who pursues a course contrary to the dictates of wisdom.
3. In scripture, fool is often used for a wicked or depraved person; one who acts contrary to sound wisdom in his moral deportment; one who follows his own inclinations...

(Sub point 2.) To act like one void of understanding

Hence, *The fool:

- 1) has no reason, no understanding; he is an idiot.
- 2) ignores common sense, thinking that he can rationalize reality into existence.
- 3) is morally depraved – Follows his heart into his depravity.
- 4) is void of sound reasoning; fails to face the reality of the logical implications of his depraved thinking.

The fool is an idiot, thinking that the rational is real; that is, what the mind of the fool can rationalize will work out is reality. All modern politics is controlled by the dream that man can be as God; if he can conceive of and enforce the right combination of ideas and laws, man can save himself. Consider Congress and the laws it passes, e.g., This is a rational law, therefore it must result in the desired reality. It would be redundant to list the idiotic laws that men pass with the sure confidence that laws will change reality. Such thinking is witchcraft.

Example: The fool's faith that there is no God allows him to imagine that he can print enough paper to solve the world's problems apart from the command-word of God.

Deuteronomy 29:19 And it come to pass, when he heareth the words of this curse, that he bless himself in his heart, saying, I shall have peace, though I walk in the imagination of mine heart, to add drunkenness to thirst: 20 The LORD will not spare him, but then the anger of the LORD and his jealousy shall smoke against that man, and all the curses that are written in this book shall lie upon him, and the LORD shall blot out his name from under heaven.

The Rational is Real: Paper "Money"

The fool has no problem with paper money, for his faith tells him paper is real money, and with enough paper money, he can save himself and the world from the problems he has created. Sadly, the world has accepted paper as real money. Reality is obvious at the food stores and gas pumps!

Defending sound money is a religious responsibility, Exodus 30:13, 15, 24, &c. Our Founding Fathers established a biblical monetary system as defined by God as specific weights of silver and gold for our monetary system. We were on a sound money standard until 1931 when gold was decoupled from the monetary system, and the final death of the biblical economy was under President Nixon when he severed the US dollar from all ties to gold and silver and put everything into paper. Paper was needed, for unlike the hard metal standard, it could be inflated to support unlimited government spending. In both cases the church made no effort to defend the biblical monetary system upon which this nation was founded. Because our religious leaders did not and have not defended God's Law, we are in our current situation of considering paper or computer entries as real money.

•Parenthesis: The Federal Reserve act of 1913 was the basis of the destruction of biblical money in America. See "The creature from Jekyll Island" by Edward Griffin. He documents how blackmail was used to get President Woodrow Wilson as well as Congress to sign this wicked act. Do a search and you will find several free download sites as well as some video sites. [End]

In addition, the fool rationalizes that "green energy" can power the world, so he is throwing vast amounts of paper to make his dream a reality. But reality will prove to be fatal to this nation.

Third implication of there is no God is that there is no binding law from God: antinomianism. Those who are anti-law have no firm, consistent law for every area of life and thought, so they must reason their way through life. When professed Christians or pagans replace the authoritative, binding law-word of God with what they think is best, they deny God. Man must now be his own god, and by his word, he must control every area of life, church, state, family, even the laws of nature—male-female, &c. (Gen 3:5. See Helping Evolution <https://www.biblicalexaminer.org/update1.html>)

Society must have law, so if there is no God to establish law, then man must be as god and establish law. Hence, the tyrannical, all powerful State as it fulfills its duty as god to establish law, Rom 13.

The world today appears to be controlled by fools, those seeking to fulfill their dream of being able to control man's destiny world-wide. Fools are at war against the idea of God and His immutable laws; their goal is to remove the "Creator God of law" idea from the world. (Fools identified as teachers are trying to explain the idea of "transgenderism" to first graders to remove the idea of the Creator God from society. Today, the doctor guesses at the gender of a child! The humanist education in the teachers' colleges has infiltrated everywhere.)

"Without Christian faith, there is no escape for man.

He is trapped in a world in which there is no right and wrong, above and beyond man. Man determines it. Man, as his own god, says 'this is good and this is evil, and who are you to question it?'"

The result is a tyrannical State acting as god with the goal of subduing all nations under its central authority by any means: science so called, reeducation, lies, deceptions, thefts, coercion, armed force, murder, &c. (See Nimrod, biblicalexaminer.org/topics.html#N) The lust for power is the primary motive for wars. (James 4) Wars are motivated over power, and the wealth that can be obtained with that power.

We wonder why the wicked can be so calloused concerning the lives of their fellow man. We must realize that men are considered no more than drone bees to be used to keep the queen bee alive—those who consider themselves the elite. We must understand that human life is as disposable as an ant to the fool. Life is a disposable animal in the fool's effort to recreate all life according to his imagination. People are killed wholesale in order to advance their evil agenda. The fool has been taught from his youth up by seducing spirits the doctrines of devils that there is no God to be concerned about, so they have no conscience. (1 Timothy 4:1, 2)

"The Party seeks power entirely for its own sake. We are not interested in the good of others; we are interested solely in power, pure power.... Power is not a means; it is an end. One does not establish a dictatorship in order to safeguard a revolution; one makes the revolution in order to establish the dictatorship. The object of persecution is persecution. The object of torture is torture. The object of power is power." (Orwell)

[The Boer War was fought over money – the very rich diamond and gold areas of South Africa. The Dutch Afrikaners possessed the Witwatersrand gold-mining complex, the largest in the world. However, it was beyond direct British control, and Britain needed that gold to support and expand its power; hence, the Boer War to take possession of the wealth of that area.]

Romans 1 tells us that all men know there is a God, and that man must suppress that knowledge of God in order to believe that he can establish his own fiat word as law. Man's authority must be forced on others, whereas willing and joyful submission to God's authority is a work of Redemption. The unsaved man is like the man who was possessed of the devil in Mark 5; he wants nothing to do with Jesus until the devil is dealt with by the Son. It is only then that the fool can have a right mind.

The fool rejects the Orthodox Doctrine of Predestination

1646 Westminster Confession of Faith. Chapter 3, Of God's Eternal Decree

1. God from all eternity did by the most wise and holy counsel of His own will, freely and unchangeably ordain whatsoever comes to pass; yet so as thereby neither is God the author of sin; nor is violence offered to the will of the creatures, nor is the liberty or contingency of second causes taken away, but rather established.

1689 London Baptist Confession of Faith. Chapter 3, Of God's Decree

1. God hath decreed in himself, from all eternity, by the most wise and holy counsel of his own will, freely and unchangeably, all things, whatsoever comes to pass; yet so as thereby is God neither the author of sin nor hath fellowship with any therein; nor is violence offered to the will of the creature, nor yet is the liberty or contingency of second causes taken away, but rather established; in which appears his wisdom in disposing all things, and power and faithfulness in accomplishing his decree. (Isaiah 46:10 Declaring the end from the beginning, and from ancient times the things that are not yet done, saying, My counsel shall stand, and I will do all my pleasure;, Ephes-sians 1:11; Hebrews 6:17; Romans 9:15, 18; James 1:13; 1 John 1:5; Acts 4:27, 28; John 19:11; Numbers 23:19; Ephesians 1:3-5 )

Orthodox Doctrine of Predestination is hated by the natural man, professed Christian or pagan. Divine Predestination violates the promise Satan made to man in Genesis 3:5. Satan promised that man could predestinate his future without God by his own understanding, knowledge and self-determination. (Free will! what a foolish notion no one chose the time of his birth, his name, gifts, abilities nor his family, &c.)

The natural man, the fool, is convinced that there is no God who predestinates, or determines the future; there is no God who established law at the foundations of the earth; there is no God who directs all things according to His predetermined counsel for His own glory and for the good of those He chose in Christ Jesus. (Acts 2:23, John 15:16, Eph 1:4, 2 Thes 2:13, 1 Pe 2:9.) Since there is no God, man must be his own god, so he believes he is responsible to govern all things and must determine for himself what is good and evil. Note that when men, including Christians, believe they can predetermine or control the future, they have denied the Christian God. The logical conclusion is that those who deny predestination deny the Lord God of history.

We all know of men, even pastors who claim to be orthodox, yet they cannot understand nor accept the fact that God's law-word and its many implications are binding on every aspect of society today. (Deut 29:29) Certainly, the sacrificial laws and ordinances were all fulfilled by Christ, but sanctification is a result of obedience to the "moral" law, 1 Peter 1:2

In Genesis 3:5, man moved into the world of the absurd. He took on the task of planning his own future, and living his life according to what he feels is good or evil. From the beginning, man's basic problem has been that he believes he can trust his own thinking, and avoid God's reality. Whatever the mind of man can conceive as being real, to him it is a reality upon which he can build his house. Having removed the predestining Triune God from his thinking and denying any law outside of himself, man believes he can be the God of his own destiny. The idiocy of the fool is truly astounding, and beyond Christian understanding.

This lack of sound reasoning is especially evident in the political, as well as the religious realm today as the concept of predestination, or control of the future, moves from the Lord God to the individual, to the group (mobocracy) or to the State. The State's effort to predestinate the future is seen in the education system as it works to predestinate the future for humanism; meanwhile, Christians have sacrificed the future to the humanists by failing in the Godly education of the children God has given them.

There are only three ways to view predestination: First, chance which is total chaos. Second, divine sovereignty and predestination. Third, predestination by man – predestination by the individual, the social planners, the NWO, the big tech giants, &c. Politicians very much believe in predestination, for they see themselves as the predestinators who must mold the future with absurd laws which will be forced on everyone, except upon themselves. That effort to mold the future starts in the education system. Marxism is the ultimate effort to control the future with a totally planned society. The Teachers' Union especially is controlled by Marxists. Apparently, with great wealth, comes the natural desire to predestinate, that is, be the gods lover the future and fulfill Satan's promise of Genesis 3:5 for the glory of man.

God tells us that man CAN predestinate or control the future and the future of a nation either for blessings or curses, but not by his own reasoning ability. Blessings or curses are according to obedience to the law-word of God. (Galatians 6:7, and its many implications. Deut 28:1, 15, Hosea 8:7, 10:2, &c. However, antinomians inside and outside of the church dismiss these passages as not binding in the "age of grace," and then see the resulting curses or blessings upon themselves or upon a nation only as circumstantial.)

The fool is detached from the Creator God and thus from all law and reality, and he acts contrary to sound wisdom. He sees himself as the god of creation, and able to establish and control nature and his own destiny. His inability to trust Divine Providence to control the future leads to anxiety.

The fool loves lies

Revelation 22:14 Blessed [are] they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city. 15 For without [are] dogs, and sorcerers, and whoremongers, and murderers, and idolaters, and whosoever loveth and maketh a lie.

Satan's followers love lies and gladly accept them:

And whosoever loveth and maketh a lie; who loves

both to invent and tell lies, and loves to hear them told by others; meaning more especially the doctrinal lies of antichrist, which are spoken in hypocrisy by him, and his followers are given up to believe. (Gill)

And whosoever loveth] Though he maketh it not. Some will not coin a false tale, that yet will spread it; these are equally guilty, and excluded God's kingdom, Ps 52:3.

"Thou lovest evil more than good; and lying rather than to speak righteousness. Selah." (Trapp)

John Henry Newman (1801-90) Letter to Mrs Froude, 27th June 1848:

whosoever loveth and maketh a lie But what will not believe, provided it be not in the Bible? I admit that what is in the Bible requires faith; and this is as it should be. It is, however, too evident that there is nothing like incredulity for swallowing anything that panders to the first man, and leaving out the glory of the Second. (Eclectic Notes on the Bible. Online Bible CD. Available from TBE.)

We believe what we choose to believe, and are answerable for what we believe.

In Ephesians 4, Paul told Timothy that departure from the faith results in a love of lies. Sadly, the more society departs from the faith once delivered to the Saints, the more the conscience is seared, and the greater is that love of lies. In other words, the result of rejecting the command-word of God, whether as a pastor, professed believer or unsaved, when one chooses to believe lies he is a follower of seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils. We have all met professed believers, particularly pastors, who refuse to acknowledge a Biblical Truth from the command-word of God because it does not fit into what they want to believe or within the within the framework of what he is telling or has been told. When we knowingly dismiss a commandment because "the first man" does not like it, we profess that we hate the Lord Jesus Christ. (John 14:15) Believing lying propaganda has the same results in the saved and unsaved alike.

Proverbs 8:36 But he that sinneth against me wrongeth his own soul: all they that hate me love death.

We see in Ephesians 4 that as the Biblical Christian faith fades, people readily accept the doctrines of the seducing spirits and devils, fearful doctrines. Those doctrines are meant to promote fear, anxiety, depression, delusional thinking and hallucinations, things that fill the void left by faithlessness. No doubt, the pharmaceutical industry is rejoicing over the many things they can develop for a sick, faithless people as paganism takes over the nation. (Notice how the pharmaceutical industry is continually discovering new medical problems for which they can promote a new drug: "Check with your doctor.")

We know that God has not given us a spirit of fear; but consider Leviticus 6:

Vv. 3-13 emphatically states that any kind of material prosperity in this life is irrevocably tied to obedience to the Law. Those material blessings of obedience to the Law of God include good harvests, good rain, excellent yield of wine, peace and prosperity, no evil beasts, victory against our enemies, and God's favor and presence, &c. On the other hand, 6:14, 15 But if ye will not hearken unto me, and will not do all these commandments; And if ye shall despise my statutes, or if your soul abhor my judgments, so that ye will not do all my commandments, but that ye break my covenant, is just as dogmatic as it ties the curses of God to disobedience to the Law. It is important to note that Leviticus 6 applies to all the nations of the world. Any nation that follows God's laws will prosper, whether that nation professes to be Christian or not.

Leviticus 26:16, God is always the agent bringing terror on Israel. God threatens terror, {Le 26:16} or is said to have brought behalâ on them {Jer 15:8 Ps 78:33} because of their disregard of him. It seems that both meanings of bahal 'alarm' and 'haste' are brought together in the noun, behalâ 'sudden terror.' (TWOT. Read all of Leviticus 26.)

That is, God is the agent that permits or brings terror on the nations that violate the covenant He made with all of mankind in Adam and renewed with Noah. The more a nation departs from the law of God, the more that nation will be delivered over to terror, fear, madness and anxiety.

Proverbs 28:1 The wicked flee when no man pursueth: but the righteous are bold as a lion.

Geneva: "Because their own conscience accuses them," they are very fearful.

Ecclesiastes 12:13 Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man. 14 For God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil.

FINE CHINA

By Bettie Need (Note the date this was posted at <https://titus2joy>.)

Lately I have been feeling some sadness at growing older. After living a very active life for over sixty years, emotions similar to “empty nest syndrome” have been creeping in. Nothing really desperate, mind you, just thoughts like: “Is this all there is to life at this age? Why am I already feeling lonely, as if I were truly alone, as when a spouse dies?” My husband and I enjoy each other’s company, and we are busier than ever this summer, with the garden overflowing; but there is a longing for something else. I ask myself if I am being discontented, which I consider a sin, or if there is something about aging that I am just discovering for myself.

When my first husband and I were married long ago in North Carolina, we received a beautiful set of china from the church members. We packed them away carefully and took them with us wherever we moved. One year we moved five times! When we finally settled down long enough, my husband told me that whatever of our possessions we did not use in six months would be discarded— except of course, seasonal items like winter clothing, etc. Not wanting to break our expensive china by constant use, we had kept it in its packing box, but my husband said if we did not use it within six months, out it would go! So we used it often. Even after my husband died I used the china many times. Four years after he died, I began to feel like the packed box of china— someone with an abundance of valuable life experiences which were not being used or shared with others. I spoke of this to my pastor and his wife— “Is this all there is to life, now at this stage?”

I remember when we had to take the car keys away from my parents (who lived next door to me) when they became too incapacitated to drive safely. That was a traumatic moment for them, and a sad one for me, to admit that my parents were really getting too old to perform some tasks that had been second nature to them. I laughingly told them that now we could pretend they were very wealthy and could afford a chauffeur— me! I believe my parents probably felt that was the beginning of the end of their lives. Am I at that stage of aging where I begin to think life is past and there is little reason to live, too? (My hips are now bad enough that I can no longer ride a motorcycle with my second husband. “Old” has set in.)

Not wanting to resort to psychology, I began wondering what God’s Word has to say about my encroaching “swamp of despair.” Does God have anything to say about what women feel through the various stages of their lives? I did not know for sure, but I was willing to search. And so, I went to the beginning— Genesis.

Genesis 2:18-24 ...

Aha! Of course! Adam needed a wife! Eve was needed. That is what I am feeling— a need to be needed. But I know my second husband needs me— he tells me every day that I am the perfect wife for him. Do I need any more than him? (Proverbs 31:10-31 describes a perfect wife and how her husband and children praise her.)

“Children.” My husband and I have five— three of mine and two of his. God’s Word also shows the biological urge in women—the need to have a baby. In Samuel 1:2-20, Hannah yearns for children. In Genesis 30:1, “... when Rachel saw that she bare Jacob no children, Rachel envied her sister; and said unto Jacob, Give me children, or else I die.” (A desperate need to have children!) God did answer both Hannah and Rachel by opening their wombs. Psalms 113:9 He maketh the barren woman to keep house, and to be a joyful mother of children. Praise ye the LORD.

Another way women are needed is stated by the Psalmist: Psalms 22:9 But thou art he that took me out of the womb: thou didst make me hope when I was upon my mother’s breasts. Psalms 22:10 I was cast upon thee from the womb: thou art my God from my mother’s belly. A baby needs its mother for sustenance— in the womb and for nursing. After weaning, most mothers yearn for another baby. Women love being needed!

God’s Word also tells us children need mother and father to teach them about God and His Word: Deut. 6:7 And thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up. Parents are to teach children every minute of the day how to love and obey God.

Okay! I have been there and done that! But does the Bible say anything about “empty nest syndrome?” Every empty nest woman needs to be needed, but her children are gone and no longer need her. God does address the issue, though not as I thought. Husband and wife are to maintain their own relationship of marriage throughout the child training years. I saw that a woman needs God’s Word to be implanted deep in her life.

In Ephesians 5:15-27 and 1 Timothy 5:8-10, God gave His plan for husbands and wives: Families are to provide for their own households in physical and spiritual ways. My first husband and I maintained our relationship during the child training years by having “date nights” when we would spend time together assessing the spiritual and physical needs of ourselves and our children. When I was 52 years old, he was killed, and I was at a loss. No one was left at home who needed me! That was when I spent a lot of time with my pastor and his wife for encouragement in the Word. Then I discovered how an overlooked passage in Titus could apply to me:

Titus 2:3-5 The aged women likewise, that they be in behaviour as becometh holiness, not false accusers, not given to much wine, teachers of good things; That they may teach the young women to be sober, to love their husbands, to love their children, To be discreet, chaste, keepers at home, good, obedient to their own husbands, that the word of God be not blasphemed.

I discovered a new need I had --older women need to pass on life skills to younger women. I was to be like the good widow in I Tim. 5:10. What a blessing God has given older women in meeting this need! I have had many years happily encouraging younger wives and mothers, even having young ladies sent to me by my sister in Brazil for “mentoring.” Sadly, many churches do not avail themselves of this plan of God for encouraging their younger women. Some younger women think they will be looked down upon if they are not “super-woman,” so they do not ask for help or advice from the elder women. And even more sad it is that many older women shun this plan of God. They say, “I have done my share of taking care of house and children, and am going to take care of my needs now!” How they miss out on the blessing that comes from encouraging other women in righteousness, so that God’s Word is not blasphemed!

Another blessing is thrown away when children no longer need, or value their parents in their own lives and in the lives of their own children. Dear friends of ours lament the fact that their children have no room in their lives for them, except as guests at Christmas to bring gifts to the grandchildren. These friends are missionaries who have rich experiences which may bless their children and grandchildren, but their own offspring deny them the chance to visit more than once a year! The children “take out the good china” only at Christmas! They are content to be “an island unto themselves” the rest of the year.

As we get older, we need to be needed by the younger generation, especially the grandchildren. We hear of so many younger people professing their need for the older generation for the financial aid they can give, especially for “college”. There is certainly nothing wrong with needing financial aid, but the need to be needed goes much deeper than “money.” Praise the Lord, my husband and I have children who welcome our interaction with our grandchildren! Psalm 78: 1-8 is one of my favorite “multi-generational passages: ...

So where does all this bring me to at this time in my life? What about my desires to be needed? Granted, I am needed by my husband, though we are not part of a bustling family life like I yearn for as I remember my childhood. So what does God say about where I am right now? I am finally brought to:

Ecclesiastes 3:1-14: To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven: ... There is a time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted; a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing.

God has made everything beautiful in His time. Though I need and desire the companionship of our children and grandchildren, my greatest need is my need of God’s presence, in whom alone all my needs are met at every season of my life, to God be the glory!

“My sin, o the bliss of this glorious thought; my sin not in part, but the whole, is nailed to the cross and I bear it no more, Praise the Lord, Praise the Lord, O my soul.”

(Note: The china above was hand painted by my mother-in-law on Bavarian china! A truly talented woman!)

CHRISTIANS IN AMERICAN CULTURE

by Paul Trelc

In her article in the April issue of The Biblical Examiner, Betty Need closed with an important question, “Are we earnestly doing all we can to pass on practically lived out Biblical Christianity?"

In our experience as leaders of an organization in Northern Kentucky called CulturalChristians.org, many sincere Christians would answer this question with an earnest and self-convicting, "No". They are well aware that our culture is in crisis. And they are equally aware that the crisis stems from a lack of Christian influence. What they don't know, and the reason for their conviction is what specifically they should be doing about it.

Reacting, or perhaps overreacting, to the pietism of the 20th century, 21st-century churches seem overly focused on one's personal relationship with Jesus Christ. And, while this relationship is central to the faith, the Bible teaches that faith is but a starting point. The faith itself should produce a fruitful series of good works within that culture commensurate with the work of the Spirit within the individual human heart. Our modern-day evangelical churches simply have not preached a gospel that begins with faith but then also extends itself, by good works, into the culture and toward its people in their various spheres.

Cultural Christians was formed to help Christians answer the question, "What should I do?" We come alongside believers and help them to formulate their vision, develop their teams, and drive their ministry toward productive outcomes. We help them network with like-minded believers. We help them plan and organize to become effective managers. And we help them to build a network of workers and leaders to achieve their vision. Every Christian has a calling on their lives to do good works which have been prepared in advance that they should walk in them (Eph 2:10). Cultural Christians is a facilitator of these good works: A "ministry incubator". Our goal is that, through Christian ministry and service, the gospel extends to the culture at large resulting in long-term transformation for the Glory of God.

One of our current ministry-starts is called "Get Me Over" which helps Canadian Christian families escape very real and active persecution in Canada by helping them immigrate to the United States where they can still freely live out their faith and assert their Christian ethics in their work and into our community. We strive to open our doors and welcome their influence.

A second ministry-start anticipates a day when food, rather than abundant, is limited in quantity as well as in accessibility. This ministry anticipates a day when food is parceled in limited quantities to recipients on the basis of a social score which requires that they compromise their faith and submit to the supremacy of the state - and corporate employers - through vaccinations and the suppression of heartfelt beliefs. This ministry will connect consumers directly to local food producers in Northern Kentucky while nourishing, literally, their Christian vocations.

A third ministry-start anticipates a day when, like food, access to healthcare excludes the "non-conforming". This ministry is working to overcome Certificate Of Need (CON) requirements in Northern Kentucky so that it can open a free-access and personalized full-service health center in the Dry Ridge area.

Cultural Christians operates on the premise that a culture devoid of active Christian influence will continue inevitably toward decay. This is the situation we face today. We strive, therefore, to invigorate Christians who sense the need of their involvement but don't know specifically where to begin. We have ministries in which those people can participate beginning tomorrow. We also support the initiation of new ministries wherever our member's hearts may be leading them. We hope that at the end of our generation, we will each be content knowing that we have fought the good fight, we have finished the race, we have kept the faith, and, having expended all of our strength, by God's grace, we have left behind the fruits of faithful Christian ministries for the generation to come.

Father of Lies

ARE THERE AMERICANS SO BRAINWASHED THEY WILL NEVER RECOVER?

By Craigie McMillan, May 13, 2022

If ever a nation were built so that its population could be easily brainwashed, America is it. We didn't start out that way, or we would never have become a nation. We would still be, "Oh, that colony, over there" as a Londoner points toward the Atlantic Ocean. “Been nothing but trouble since the day we got them!”

Without media, radio, television, movies and finally the internet and social media, it would have been difficult for leaders to engage in brainwashing the citizenry. But there is one other key element. We actually thought (back then) because we had to figure things out. Advertising taught us that we could just let someone else figure it out and then do what they told us to do.

That only works out well, however, when the people figuring it out and telling us have no ulterior motive for telling us. If they do, we have to figure out what their motive is, and how that affects our own interests. This illustrates why we must stay engaged and think through most things, anyway. Taking “free” advice from those we don’t know can be very costly.

“Free advice” with ulterior motives is really at the heart of brainwashing, isn’t it? When the plug is, “Buy my product,” or “Vote for me!” brainwashing is likely in play. Someone wants to remove your thoughts and insert their own in place of yours. But what they really want to do is get your action or assent.

Why don’t they just ask for your action or assent? Because they don’t think you will give your action or assent. They don’t want to persuade you, which takes time and effort, and requires some similar thinking, or maybe some give-and-take on both sides. They just want you to say yes and give them your money or your vote.

For those with money and power, brainwashing the rest of us is an attractive option to getting more money and power, which is what they want. They only care about what they want to do to you. The concept of doing for you isn’t even on their radar.

Lying and brainwashing are pretty much alike, in that they are both unethical forms of persuasion. God, if you will recall, called the devil a liar from the very beginning. It wasn’t a compliment, but it is a good warning for us, given all that humanity has already endured (death and destruction) because of the devil’s lies.

Brainwashing is really lying on an industrial scale. It is carried out by people we don’t know and who don’t know us personally. So, for brainwashing to be effective, it requires people with little discernment listening to people they don’t know, have no reason to trust, and then accepting what they hear and see as absolutely true and accurate – even more true and accurate than what they might have arrived at if they had thought it through.

Just offhand, one would think it would be hard to find very many people like that. But life tells us otherwise, doesn’t it? America is filled with a lot of lazy thinkers, who would rather let somebody else do the job for them. They don’t know what they believe because they don’t know who they are. All they care about is holding a popular opinion. Thinking frightens them, because they don’t know where it will lead them; they might even wander off the thought reservation and be ridiculed by others.

There are a lot of culprits who can be blamed for this, but in the end we are each responsible for what we believe, regardless of how we got there. If we believe a liar, especially for the accolades of men, we will in the end pay the price. God alone is the only one who won’t lie to us, but do we listen to Him? He asks frequently in His Word: “Am I a man, that I should lie?”

DON’T DWELL

Travis Mills. Magnolia Journal, Summer 2022

I was on my third tour of duty in Afghanistan when I stepped on an IED—an improvised explosive device—and lost three of my limbs. On my 25th birthday, the doctors woke me up out of my medical sedation to tell me I had lost my fourth.

My wife was 23 years old, and I told her she could leave—actually, I told her she should leave me. But she told me this is something we’d do together. I had doctors and nurses who worked on me for 14 hours straight because they believed my life mattered. I have so many friends who didn’t make it back home to their families and their loved ones. And I think, How lucky am I to make it to the situation I’m in. So I stopped trying to figure out why this happened to me, and I started living, just grateful I get to.

I’m the same guy, same personality, and I don’t look at myself as any different. The biggest compliment I get is when I reunite with people from my past who say I'm the same guy I was before. I say, "Yes, I am," unless it's a schoolteacher or something. Then I say, "Hey, I'm sorry. I'm working on it." I don't dwell in the past because I can't change it. I just reminisce on what I had, and I keep going, knowing I have more ahead.

dynamics worked on that website would be survivors of Scientology or the Jehovah's Witnesses. On Tumblr, the situation was such that any claim to being "oppressed" would accumulate social credibility, while any unfortunate "privileged" status was justification for verbal abuse. As a "privileged" person, you were expected to constantly grovel and apologize, you had no right to speak on any issue involving the group you were "oppressing", and you could not object in any way to any mistreatment hurled against you because of your race, gender, or sexuality...

By Any Other Name

THE STORY OF MY TRANSITION AND DETRANSITION.

My name is Helena, and as of this writing I'm a 23-year-old woman who, as a teenager, believed I was transgender. In the years since detransitioning (stopping testosterone treatment and no longer seeing myself as transgender), I've become interested in exploring why, in the last decade, nearly every English-speaking country has seen a meteoric rise in adolescents believing they are transgender and pursuing cosmetic medical and surgical interventions. Here, I'd like to go over how and why I came to see myself as transgender, the process of transitioning, and the events leading up to and following my detransition. ...

The truth is that there has been an extreme rise in adolescents, especially girls, believing they are transgender. UK NHS referral data shows a 4000% increase in pediatric gender service referrals (not a typo). ... neither female-typical activities nor being seen as a girl caused any distress for me before I was introduced to gender ideology. ...

A major aspect of Tumblr culture has always been social justice ideology. Things that are now being played out and witnessed by the general public on platforms like Twitter and TikTok, like dissociative identity disorder LARPer, demisexuality, neopronouns, otherkin, and everything you see on @LibsOfTikTok, have long existed in an uncannily identical form on tumblr.com. The oppression hierarchy of racial and gender identities now being written into law in many of our once serious nations was the state religion of the People's Republic of Tumblr long before your political junkie uncle knew the term "CRT". As cultish religions tend to operate, open devotion to the religion is mandatory. Perhaps the outsiders most likely to understand the way social

... people were nicer to me since I said I was trans so that must be an indication that being trans is the right thing to do to make friends...

To add fuel to the fire, I went to my school guidance counselor and told her I was very depressed (true) because my parents wouldn't accept me as trans (not so true). She completely affirmed my perception and told me how sorry she was that my parents weren't more supportive. She looked online with me at the local children's hospital gender clinic and said she would call to see how long their waiting list was. We also came up with a budget plan for how I would pay for testosterone using an informed consent clinic if I waited until I turned eighteen. In the meantime, she said I should talk to the school psychologist to help me deal with my family being so transphobic. I asked my mom if I could stop seeing the therapist I had been seeing occasionally and switch to the school psychologist. My mom, having no idea that the school was affirming me and helping me put together plans to transition behind her back, agreed. ...

It was this weird belief system I found on the internet that made me want to be trans, not a repressed yearning to do "guy things". I had never been all that interested in "guy things". ...

[Helena lengthy account ends with] My story is not a fluke, and I am not uniquely troubled or irresponsible. What I am though, is fortunate, because there are others for whom the harm has been exponentially worse. Though there is much strength to be found in overcoming, the fact is that today, any young person who remotely struggles with self-esteem, making friends, fitting in to common gender roles, or body image is now vulnerable to being subjected to what amount to medical experiments that may permanently destroy the prior functioning of their bodies before they have had the chance to build identity and strength through the normal means of overcoming life's challenges. I have seen firsthand that for some people, the medical and psychological damage is far beyond what could be considered a healthy amount of adversity.

Editor's Note: The public school she attended not only supported her "transition," but encouraged and helped her on her path to destruction. We recently had a family move into our area from Michigan. He had been a guidance counselor and retired. I asked him how he got away with not counseling young people to be something they are not: boy, girl or whatever. NOTHING is too absurd to the fool. He said the walls were closing in and he saw the writing on the wall so he moved to where he could attend East River Church. He knew Pastor Foster in the past.

EVEN THE LEFT IS BEGINNING TO ADMIT IT HAS PUSHED TRANSGENDERISM TOO FAR

By Kaylee Mcghee White Apl 18, 2022

Transgender orthodoxy has moved so far past the bounds of sanity that any attempt to question its effects is quickly discouraged and punished. We are expected to shut up and accept that public schools are passing policies to keep students' gender identity transitions from parents, that medical professionals can file to remove children from their parents' custody if parents oppose physical and chemical transition efforts, that a young man competed on a women's swimming team and took home a women's championship title, and that a man who claimed to identify as a woman was allowed into a women's prison where he impregnated two of his fellow prisoners.

None of this is normal or even remotely defensible, and everyone, including many on the Left, know it. ...

THE INSIDE STORY FROM INSIDE UKRAINE

By Chuck Baldwin, March 31, 2022

This column—and especially my livestreamed and archived message videos—count followers all over the world. As you might expect, we have a sizable following in countries such as Canada, Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Ireland, Scotland, France, Germany, Switzerland, etc. We also have significant followings in Singapore, the Caribbean, Central America and the Middle East, including Lebanon—and especially Palestine. But you might be surprised to learn that we also have a substantial following in Northern Europe, including Finland, and in Eastern Europe, including Russia and Ukraine.

I will use this column to share with readers what people in Ukraine are telling me about the conflict going on with Russia. But first, I must point you to what I believe is the BEST analysis of the Ukrainian situation that I have read to date—and I have read a LOT.

I’m talking about this article by David Stockman:

Economic, social and political dangers abound. That’s because Washington and its subservient mainstream media are delirious with war fever like at no time in the last seven decades.

The resulting reckless pursuit of an unhinged Sanctions War against Russia poses a dire threat to the global economy and domestic prosperity and does so for no good reason of homeland security whatsoever.

With respect to the latter, the sheer facts are overwhelming. So we repeat them with an added total for the respective military budgets: To wit, the economic might of NATO is 29X that of Russia and its combined defense budgets are 18X greater, which tells you all you need to know about the “Russian threat”:

*NATO: $42.78 trillion of GDP; 945 million population; $45,130 per capita income; $1,200 billion defense budget;

*RUSSIA: $1.46 trillion of GDP; 144 million population; $10,300 per capita income; $67 billion defense budget.

Given these realities, why should Washington care about an intramural battle among contiguous peoples and territories that have been joined at the hip for most of the last 1300 years?

The implicit answer is because it’s the world’s self-appointed policeman and Spanker-in-Chief.

The fact is, Ukraine is the Poland and Czechoslovakia of the present time – an artificial state loaded with Russians and with no reason for existence in its present form and girth. Well, still again, other than Washington’s fanatical insistence that the happenstance map of administrative units which fell out of the Soviet Union’s collapse constitute sacred borders that must be preserved at all hazards.

To the contrary, what Putin wants, ironically, is the pre-communist status quo ante. That is, he wants Crimea, where Ukrainians constitute but a tiny minority and which had been Russian since 1783. And, more crucially, which hosts the greatest strategic military asset possessed by Russia thereafter – the great Naval base at the headwaters of the Black Sea in Sevastopol.

Likewise, the Donbas and territories east of the Dnieper River and along the northern edge of the Black Sea and the Sea of Azov have been Russian for upwards of 300 years. By all facts of pre-1922 history, these territories amounted to Novorossiia (“New Russia”) as shown in this map from 1897.

As it happened, they became “Ukrainian” only by writ of two of history’s greatest evil monsters – Vladimir Lenin and Joseph Stalin – who placed them in the administrative unit of the Ukrainian Soviet Socialist Republic for reasons that have no historic validity whatsoever.

Yet a devastating war goes on there today – a war which is careening to the precipice of WWII – because Washington encourages Kiev to insist on retention of “every inch” of a map put together by Lenin, Stalin and Khrushchev.

The worst thing, of course, is that all of this “war socialism” has nothing to do with defense of the homeland or anything rational at all. To the contrary, it’s the rotten spawn of an Imperial City populated by careerist politicians who get their jollies pretending to be the suzerains of mankind and Spanker-in-Chief of the planet’s malefactors.

Unfortunately, the current mess isn’t the half of it. The MSM is presenting such a distorted and fanciful picture of on-the-ground conditions in the Ukraine that the American public is totally in the dark about what comes next. That is, the Ukrainian military has been decimated and the resistance of the Kiev government is on its last legs – notwithstanding the nonstop whistling past the graveyard of the nation’s clownish president.

Stockman has much more to say, of course, and I urge you to read his entire treatise. Like I said, it’s the best I’ve read on the subject to date.

But the last Stockman paragraph quoted above is a perfect segue into what people from inside Ukraine are telling me. I will keep these sources unidentified for obvious reasons.

The letter to follow summarizes most of the sentiments I have received from people living in Ukraine or who have family living in Ukraine. (FYI: One of my immediate family members by marriage is Ukrainian on one side of the family and Russian on the other side.)

From a faithful Liberty Fellowship follower (the letter has been edited for space and to smooth out broken English):

Hello Pastor Chuck,

Ukraine and Russia are one nation. Up to 75% of Ukraine, Russia, Belorussia and Poland have the same ancestry.

The media in the U.S. gives totally different information from what is really going on.

I am writing so that you know what is going on in Ukraine from people who are in Ukraine.

Here is what the Ukrainian people know: The Russian army is very much on the offensive, but because they do not want to harm the civilian populations, they are moving slow.

They [the Russian army] distribute food and medicine to the civilian populations. The Russian government pays 10,000 rubles to each senior citizen and to each Ukrainian government employee in each territory they occupy, so that civil servants would still be able to provide civil services to the population.

One Ukrainian city was defended by the Azov Battalion [Ukrainian Nazi gangsters]. From many interviews of the local civilian people, the Azov military destroyed 80% of the buildings in that city. Civilians saw Ukrainian artillery shooting into the buildings of their own towns.

Sometimes soldiers of the Azov Battalion move into schools, churches, hospitals and apartment buildings of the city and stay there for 2 or 3 days; and when they leave, they bomb the buildings.

Civilians are saying that Ukrainian planes are bombing their own cities.

Azov soldiers would not let old people, women and children move out of the cities. They said, “You are our living shields.” Sometimes they would not let civilians get out of their basements for more than 20 days with no food or water.

People in one city say that before the war, if they spoke Russian in public, they would be penalized with large fines.

These cities in Ukraine were Russian territory for some 300 years or more.

Most of the captured Russian soldiers are being tortured. One Russian soldier was crucified and burned on a cross by the Ukrainian army. Many Russian soldiers are being castrated by the Ukrainians.

I hope this information is useful and will help to give you a better understanding as to what is really going on in Ukraine.

Name Withheld

The media propaganda regarding Ukraine is every bit as preposterous as was its propaganda regarding the phony Covid pandemic. For all of the reasons stated by David Stockman above and by the numerous eyewitness testimonies I have received from people inside Ukraine, for media Nazis like Sean Hannity to inane support war with Russia—even nuclear war—over Ukraine makes him and the rest of the War Party’s mindless media moguls appear as mentally deranged as that cognitive midget at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue.

Senator Rand Paul is exactly right: Joe Biden’s declining mental faculties present a “national security risk” that could see the U.S. dragged into a war with Russia. And the MSM seems gleefully insouciant in their eagerness to follow this injudicious idiot into potential global nuclear war.

Over what? What is no more than the globalist Deep State’s financial laundromat in Eastern Europe—the home of more neo-Nazis and neo-Nazi gangs than any country in the world.

The American people—including Christian people—need to snap out of their fascination with war propaganda and war propagandists, because this is NOT funny! This is NOT a joke! This is NOT a kid’s game! This is DEADLY SERIOUS!

The Russian people have endured the horrors of war in their homeland that the American people cannot even begin to imagine. If the unthinkable happened, those people are a million times more prepared to endure the hardships that would ensue than are we Americans. In fact, I can’t think of a citizenry in the world more unprepared for global nuclear war than the spoiled, pampered people of the United States.

I and most people I know would gladly give our lives in defense of our homeland against an attacking alien force. But it will be a cold day in Hades before I am willing to give my life—and the lives of my family—to help the corrupt criminals in the globalist Deep State hold on to their illicit blood money in a land of Nazi gangsters and Zionist banksters halfway around the world.

SALVATION THROUGH KNOWLEDGE

By Bro Need

It goes without saying that we are involved in a very serious battle of the sexes. The battle is primarily taking place at all levels of education, both “religious” and “statist.” The humanist faith teaches man that he can be whatever he desires to be regardless of how he was born. Humanism is a faith just as sure as Christianity is a faith, only the humanists are more committed to their faith than Christians are to their faith. The propagators of the humanist faith are doing all they can to conquer the world through conversion and education, which has now reached down to the first grade in the government schools.

Satan’s offer, Ye shall be as gods has “controlled” much of history. (God uses the wicked to accomplish His sovereign purpose, Ps 76:10) The humanist plan to save the world was introduced by Satan in the Garden. His offer said that with knowledge, man can be as gods and he can control his own destiny; that is, he does not need to obey God’s Word to have life, but he can find life through knowledge. The result is that the preaching of the Cross is foolishness, and only hardens the sinner in his ways without the calling of God to new life in Christ. (Jn 15:16, &c.)

A very present example of man trying to be as gods is now continually kept before us, and it is seen in the idiocy of the fight over what defines a man and what defines a woman. In man’s attempt to be as gods, he is told that he can successfully follow his heart. So, if he thinks he is a woman or a woman thinks she is a man then these things can become a reality.

We see idiocy controlling society to where people do not know whether they are a male or female. The battle rages with school boards that want to teach young people from the first grade through college, teachers’ colleges particularly, that they are not really the sex with which they were born, and they can be whatever sex they want to be. The school boards are elected, so there’s no one to blame except the parents who elected those school board members. In addition, parents, Christians especially, are denying God when they let the state instruct their children in humanism.

As a freshman in a very small local school (only 9 in my 1956 class), our male Phys Ed/Health teacher had a short and very basic lesson about sex which required parental permission to attend. I don't believe there were any girls in that class. Many of us can remember the 1960s when Sex Ed was introduced into the government schools, and though the public fought against it, the State prevailed. Sex Ed started in the upper grades, and the camel got his nose in the tent; he now possesses the tent. Sex Ed has expanded to the lower grades as they now teach 5-year-olds that their sexual identity, male or female, is a result of a guess by the doctors; hence, one's sexual identity is a man-made choice. When men are convinced that there is no God who predetermines all things, then those who are convinced that they are as gods can make various determinations including choosing one's gender. The humanists gained control of higher education many years ago; parents then supported humanism by sending their children to be trained in humanism. We are now seeing the results as non-binary "teachers" tell young children that they may not be what they are. Though our stay-at-home mother was more than qualified to home-school us, we were sent to public school.

Many of us remember the public reason given to sell Sex Ed was that it would reduce disease and pregnancies among the youth. The promise was that with proper education in how to Safely Sin, reformation would take place. That is, proper knowledge will make one as god, and enable him to provide self-salvation without God nor His Son, Jesus Christ. We are now reaping the whirlwind, and the whirlwind will continue to become more destructive as we now have a Supreme Court justice who refuses to admit there a biological difference between male and female. She is an imbecile, an idiot.

Parenthesis: We should keep in mind that it was Congress—the voice of the people—that placed her in that exalted position. Evidently, some conservative members of Congress refused to withstand her appointment out of fear of the criticism that they would get from the media and from the queer crowd. On the other hand, the "Left" fired every cannon at their disposal to prevent conservative confirmations. The situation reminds us that after World War II, "the powers" divided the world so there would be a continual warfare with East versus West, and a very profitable warfare for the military-industrial complex. There is no God, so there is no need to be concerned about the multiplied millions of drone bees that must be sacrificed for the NWO's greater good. It seems that the Court must be kept divided for the wealth of the legal profession.

Safe Sex

Judge Jackson says you need a biologist to determine a person's sex. So... isn't that an admission that sex is biological?

Satan has promised Safe Sin through knowledge. However, as long as God exists, there can be no Safe Sin. "Safe Sex" or "Safe Sin" presupposes there is no God; there is no moral order in the universe. How many professed Christians think they have safety because they made a profession, yet there is no love for nor obedience to Christ's Commandments, John 14:15.

Psalms 14:1 To the chief Musician, A Psalm of David. » The fool hath said in his heart, There is no God. They are corrupt, they have done abominable works, there is none that doeth good. (Ps 53:1)

Note that the fool says in his heart there is no God. Accordingly, regardless of his profession, he believes in his heart that his profession of Christ gives him license, and his profession protects him from death.

He is a fool who says that there can be Safe Sin, whether the sinner is an Antinomian "Christian" who falsely professes to love God, (Ps 119) or an open pagan who fights against God, The soul that sinneth, it shall die, for the wages of sin is death. (Rom 6:23 For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.) The fallen nature willingly believes the devil's lie, Ye shall not surely die.

The ungodly in and out of the church want Safe Sin, so they must deny God. The natural man hates God and His law-word. Those who love the law of God and desire to see it in control will be hated and attacked by those who hate God.

John 14:15 If ye love me, keep my commandments. That is, those who see no need to keep His command-word hate Christ.

Grace must be seen not only as the saving power of God, but grace also replaces the old man that rejects the law-word of God, and creates a new man after the image of Christ that desires to love and obey Him. The desire for Safe Sin results in being unable to hear and understand the Word of God.

Isaiah 6:9-10 And he said, Go, and tell this people, Hear ye indeed, but understand not; and see ye indeed, but perceive not. Make the heart of this people fat, and make their ears heavy, and shut their eyes; lest they see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their heart, and convert, and be healed.

Thus, we have fools ruling over fools who cannot hear the healing word of God until God's purpose of judgment is fulfilled. (Gen 15:16)

THE GREATEST GENERATION VS. GENERATION Y

by Matthew Chancey

The old man knew something was wrong the moment he drove up to his warehouse. The door stood wide open, and he had just locked it the day before. He parked his truck and cautiously approached the open door.

Suddenly, two heads poked out from the inside. The old man made eye contact with the trespassers. He knew immediately what he was dealing with.

Instinctively he called out, "You boys have permission to be here?"

"No, sir!" came the worried reply.

The old man walked into the warehouse to discover several more boys with baggy pants and skateboards. The flat, smooth concrete floor had evidently been too hard to resist.

The old man calmly looked around. He could sense the fear and worry in the teenagers. "You boys don't need to be in here," he said. "If you were to get hurt, my insurance would either go through the roof, or they'd just drop my coverage entirely."

A puzzled look came across the faces of some of the boys. "Is he serious?" "Insurance?"

"But while you're here, I could sure use some help. I have a bunch of boards in here that I need to have stacked against the wall; they're too heavy for me."

The boys looked at each other. "Sure, we'll help," said one. The teenagers sprang to action and began stacking the boards.

The old man, in the meantime, gave directions and started casual conversations with the boys. He spoke about his life, his experiences growing up on the farm, the Depression, and of course, "The War." In the course of talking about World War II, the old man related how he served as a fighter pilot on Iwo Jima. "Oh, my granddad was on Iwo Jima, too!" said one of the boys. "Well, you know, I got to go back to Iwo Jima last year for the 60th anniversary of the battle. I went back with my great-grandson."

After they'd finished stacking the boards, one of the teenagers came up to the old man. "Sir, I just want to shake your hand and thank you for the way you've treated us." He then picked up his skateboard and left, followed by the other young men. The old man got back into his truck and headed out to get some coffee.

At the coffee shop, he met a friend and related the story of what had just happened. "You should have called the police!" said the friend.

"Nah, that would have been the worst thing I could have done," replied the old man, as he quietly sipped his coffee.

That old man was Bill Snead of Enterprise, Alabama. He's 86 years old. He was born in rural North Carolina, the son of poor tobacco farmers. He went to school in a one-room school house for his early education. His father and mother read him the Bible daily, and when he was 16, he made his profession of faith. When he wasn't plowing the rocky ground of western North Carolina with his mule, he played basketball and baseball with his brothers and schoolfellows.

During World War II, he served with the 414th Fighter group and flew P-47s in the Pacific theatre, including a stint on Iwo Jima before the close of the war. At the surrender ceremony in Tokyo Bay, Bill Snead flew his P-47 over the "Mighty Mo" battleship, where the ceremony was held.

He went back to the farm after the war and spent several years plowing the rocky ground again, still walking behind the same old mule. He married, raised a family, and moved to Enterprise, where he bought his first home in 1956 for $5,000-- and he never moved after that.

He told me the story about the teenagers as we shared breakfast recently. I showed him an article I'd read about doctors prescribing Ritalin to unruly preschoolers. He just shook his head.

That's because Bill Snead came from a generation of Americans that had no idea what a “psychiatric disorder” was. There was no Ritalin, no Prozac. Parents didn’t take their children to a psychiatrist when they started playing with fire or hanging from ceiling fans.

As Snead put it, “We applied the ‘board of education’ to the ‘seat of knowledge.’ We didn’t drug our young people. Back then, we called their foolishness ‘sin.’”

He then pulled out a pocket knife. “There was seldom a day when I didn’t take one of these to school with me. But just try doing it today, and it will be on Fox News.”

“Conflict resolution” was applied a little differently by Bill Snead’s generation. “I remember getting in a few fights in school. Once, there was a bully that needed a good licking. So, we got in a fight one day. I remember the teachers standing around to make sure no one got really hurt. We fought for a while until we were both exhausted, then stood looking at each other. A friend of mine walked up to me and told me to stand there until the bully had to walk away first. So, I did, and that bully became one of my best friends.”

Fast forward to the 21st century. At the first sign of violence in schools, the police are immediately called. Teachers are afraid of their students. Students are afraid of each other. The answer: psychiatric drugs and “zero tolerance.” A water gun could get you expelled. But in the recent past, guns were brought to school by students for “show and tell.”

What happened?

Although you never hear it talked about in the mainstream press, most Americans believe there is a moral crisis in our country. We know something’s wrong. The market betrays it. When it seems that the bulk of our soap opera advertisement space is taken up by anti-depressant medications, we know something’s wrong.

to psychiatric drugs to keep their four-year-olds under control, we know something’s wrong.

What would have happened had Bill Snead called the cops and arrested those teenage trespassers? Juvenile court? Psychiatric evaluations? Frustration and anger against authority?

But what did happen? Probably for the first time in their lives, someone showed those boys love in discipline. A frail, old man caught them red-handed. They all knew it. But he gave them an opportunity to be forgiven. He walked with them and talked with them about some of his amazing life experiences. In his own way, he bridged the modern “generation gap” and gave the jaded, MTV generation something to admire and respect.

Did those boys learn their lesson? Maybe. Maybe not. There are too few Bill Sneads left who acknowledge the realities of sin and our desperate need to be loved and relieved of guilt. Today, we eliminate guilt by trying to eliminate sin. Sin has become a “disorder” implying that the sinner is not responsible for his actions, and therefore guiltless. And we wonder why so many of our kids are on anti-depressants! We wonder why our government officials talk about mandating mental screening for everyone. We wonder why we’re going mad.

There are answers out there. We just have to decide how bad it will have to get before we admit the real source of our problems and seek real solutions. But by then, we may not have any frail, old men who remember the “ancient paths” we read about in Jeremiah chapter six— men who are able to set us back upon the straight and narrow. For even the straightest of paths are crooked to the blind.
